

Rolando recently took a giant step, moving out of his family home into a group home. He attends day programming regularly and interacts well with his peers. He loves to eat out, listen to music and go on activities with his house mates.